PIRATES ON THE HUDSON.

A PHANTOM YACHT THAT CARRIES A CREW OF THIEVES—HOUSES AND STORES ROBBED AND THE PERPETRATORS ESCAPE IN SIGHT OF THE LAW OFFICERS.

[New York World.]

The cities and towns along the usually quiet Hudson, since the opening of navigation in the early spring, have been frequently raided by daring and most mysterious burglars. Like phantoms, these skilful operators, not one of whom has left a clue by which identity could be established, have glided in and out of the apartments of the wealthy residents or taken the last dollar from the till of village merchants. Every cordon of police between New York and Albany has been engaged in vain attempts to trace them, but without success.

A short time ago, however, a circumstance occurred at Hastings which throws a ray of light on the originators of the bold scheme. On a stormy night an attempt was made to enter the residence of the Misses Patterson on the river bank north of the railroad depot in that village. They were discovered by the ladies while they were stealthily at work prying open a basement door and were received by the tooting of horns and the ringing of bells from the windows above. The burglars fled, and five minutes later the attention of a Hudson River Railroad watchman was attracted to several suspicious looking men in sailor rig, one of whom was a negro, coming from the direction of the house. Detective Pike, who resides near by, was informed, and hastily dressing, traced the direction the gang had taken along the river bank and saw them board a small sloop-rigged yacht with sails set.

SHOT AT BUT NOT HURT.

Several shots were fired at the phantom-like vessel, but they merely hastened its movements and brought forth a chorus of jeering laughs from the party aboard. A moment later their course was set and and they were soon flying before the wind and were lost to sight. This was a sufficient clue to work upon, and the next morning every detective between New York and Albany was on the lookout for the piratical craft. The following Sunday she was seen in the rear of a tow passing up the river, evidently after disposing to this city of the proceeds of some robbery. By the aid of a glass the same gang which had made such a hasty departure from Hastings was seen aboard. Word was telegraphed to Detective Captain Lawrence at Tarrytown to intercept them at that point, but owing to some fault of the messenger the captain did not receive the despatch until the tow had passed Tarrytown, after which a good breeze sprang up and she sailed into Peekskill. Here she was met by a party of hard-looking characters, who were taken on board, and not until after a large quantity of provisions and a keg of lager had been purchased and carried away was she discovered by the authorities at that place. By the time the officials had been notified the craft was lost to view behind projecting headlands.

Since the discovery of the gang at Hastings by Detective Pike, it has leaked out that at the time of the raid by burglars on Poughkeepsie residences, two weeks ago, a policeman who was patrolling near the river discovered a number of suspicious-looking men hurrying towards the wharf. A summons to halt only quickened their speed, and before the officer was aware of their intentions they reached the river bank and boarded a small yacht similar to the one described by Detective Pike at Hastings. The craft sped noiselessly away in the darkness. A steam-tug lying at a pier near by was pressed into service, and the midnight marauders were followed down the river.

CHASING PIRATES WITH A TUG.

Many vessels were lying at anchor in the river and when the tug was got under headway the yacht was not discernible. Search was kept up for several hours along both banks of the river, but the attempt to discover it was fruitless.

The same vessel was afterwards seen by the Yonkers police, but she was leaving a dock in the upper part of that city one morning last week. It was afterwards ascertained that three of the crew went ashore and purchased a quantity of provisions at a grocery kept by one of the Police Commissioners. The attention of Detective Johnston was called to the fact, and visiting the water-front, he found the yacht under full headway some distance from shore. There was not sufficient evidence at that time to warrant an arrest even if capture had been possible.

The most daring of the many feats credited to this gang was at Dobbs Ferry during April. Eight of the prominent hotels and stores on the main street of the village and all within a few blocks of each other, were raided. In one place three locks were picked in an attempt to reach an inner chamber in the Greenburgh Hotel where the proprietor, Mr. Charles Huber, was supposed to keep a large amount of money. The sleeping apartments of the village druggist were also visited and over $200 in bills were taken from beneath his pillow while he slept. A Pinkerton detective in disguise spent ten days among the saloons and ascertained that the work had probably been done by professional thieves from New York, and that information as to the location of the booses had been furnished by well-known local characters who make this place their headquarters when not serving out a term in one of the State penal institutions. He also ascertained that the booty had been carried off and disposed of in New York.

IRVINGTON HOUSES DEPOPULED.

At Irvington a few nights later five places were robbed in a similar manner and a large amount of booty was obtained. Within a week twelve places have been broken into along the river banks at Tarrytown, and four daring robberies were committed within a stone's throw of the walls of Sing Sing prison.

Detectives Pike and Scanlan, of the Hudson River Railroad force, express a belief that these mysterious burglaries have all been committed by the same gang of men, and that they are undoubtedly the crew of this piratical craft. The mode of forcing window-fastenings and leaving the quality of silver-ware untouched, and handling all valuables in a similar manner, leads them to believe that the men they have in charge are the ones who have committed all the robberies.

IMITATING THE MOSHER GANG.

This mode of robbing Hudson River towns was successfully carried on by the Mosher gang during the seasons of 1879-80, and during the summer of 1881 by Anton Schlag and Bill White, whose boat was finally washed ashore and totally wrecked near Yonkers in a severe westerly storm. Clues that were obtained from the contents of the wrecked boat led to the capture of Schlag by the Yonkers police, and shortly afterwards White was found in a low den on Eleventh avenue preparing for another cruise. Both men were tried at White Plains and are now serving out a sentence of fifteen years each at Sing Sing. The Mosher gang was led by William Mosher, the supposed abductor of Charlie Ross, who was shot while breaking into the residence of Mr. Van Brunt, at Bay Ridge. Their most audacious work along the Hudson was the burglary committed at the country seat of Mr. Roswell Skiel, the tea importer, of New York, and which is situated within a few minutes' walk of Sunnyside and adjoining Jay Gould's estate at Irvington.

The yacht used by Mosher, which was afterwards found on the shore of Staten Island, was similar to the craft in use by the present gang of pirates, being sloop-rigged.

The police of the Hudson River towns are keeping a sharp lookout for the return of this mysterious cruiser, and it is probable that ere long an important capture will be reported.

The schooner Ellen Putnam, lying off Riker's Island, was boarded by thieves Monday night who stole $230. A gold watch and a quantity of rigging valued at $500. Captain James Delsey occupied a berth in the cabin and he was awakened about midnight by hearing the thieves on the deck. He was prevented from rising by a masked man standing guard over him with a loaded revolver in his hand, which he placed against the captain's head. After securing their booty and again telling the captain to be quiet the thieves were away in a small boat.

THE GREAT SCHEME.

WHAT IS SAID OF THE "PEOPLE'S RAILROAD COMPANY."

A New York despatch says: The story telegraphed from Indianapolis, Ind., published in the morning papers, to the effect that a new railroad company had been organized, under the name of the "People's Railroad," with a capital stock of $360,000,000, to be 11,000 miles long, running from this city to San Francisco, and from Chicago to New Orleans, the shares of which were to be sold at $5 each, created considerable amusement about town. A reporter tried to learn something of this "gigantic" scheme, and succeeded, after much difficulty, in ferreting out the following facts: On the 26th inst. the "company" held a meeting at Indianapolis, at which meeting, among others, Henry Traphagen and C. W. E. Schroeder, of Jersey City, were elected directors. The reporter called at the house of ex-Mayor Henry Traphagen, who is mentioned as one of the directors. He said: "This is the first intimation I have had that I had been elected to such a position. I really know very little about the scheme. Some weeks ago a Mr. John D. Harrington, of Jersey City, called on me, and, after showing a lot of circulars and going into an explanation of the scheme, which I could not at all understand, asked me if I would not lend my aid, name and influence to help the 'company' along. He pictured the project in glowing colors, and said all who went into it were sure to acquire wealth speedily. I told him my help nor name would not count for much, but I do not know that I refused to allow my name to be used. I certainly, however, do not think the scheme a practicable one. I was asked to attend the meeting held at Indianapolis on the 26th inst., but I did not. My election as a director is a surprise to me."

The reporter also called on Mr. C. W. E. Schroeder, who is president of the Germania Savings Bank, of Jersey City. He had also been mentioned as one of the "company's" directors. He was surprised when informed that he had been elected a director. The scheme, he said, was a good and wise one, and he had no doubt that it would be profitable to the investors. The road, he said, would cost about $35 000 a mile. Forty-pound steel rails would be used, and the cars would be built cheaper than those in ordinary use, and, "having the support of all the people along the line, it cannot fail to pay!" The road was to be built on the "instalment" plan. He had first heard of the scheme through John D. Harrington, with whom he was well acquainted. He had not attended the meetings of the "company" nor had he met any of the members except Mr. Harrington.

While the reporter was talking to Mr. Schroeder, a gentleman entered, and overhearing a portion of the conversation, requested the reporter to accompany him to the office of Dr. W. J. Cadmus, a few doors below, who, he said, could tell something about the concern. Dr. Cadmus said: "This thing, I am satisfied, is a wildcat scheme. It was started by men who are connected with secret organizations. One of the directors mentioned, is Robert J. Breckenbridge. He is the treasurer of the Knights of Honor of the United States. B. F. Nelson, another of the directors is supreme reporter of the same society. Judge Hoke, another director, belongs to Louisville, Kentucky. He is one of the leading men of the Knights of Honor, and is past supreme dictator of the order. I don't believe these men knew their names were to be used in connection with the scheme. John D. Harrington has been connected with the different organizations throughout the country, and is a leading spirit of the scheme here. They sent me circulars and tried to induce me to use my influence with the Knights of Honor, of which I am the state medical examiner, but I saw through the thing at a glance and refused to have anything to do with it. I am perfectly well satisfied, from my knowledge of the scheme, that it should be given a wide berth."

Another gentleman, in explaining the scheme of the national syndicate or legislative body of the "People's Railway Company of America," said: "Each final subscriber, or those who may be elected to representative membership, shall be at liberty to take any number of shares, not more, however, than 1000, which are to be issued in denominations of $5 and upward, provided that none in the representative body shall be permitted a membership upon subscription of less than $1000 of stock or bonds, face value, which is to be furnished to subscribers at 60 cents on $1 for stock or 90 cents for bonds. No one is to be permitted to perform any labor for the association who is not a stockholder of four shares, or $200, and upward, according to salary received. No officer's salary is to exceed $10,000 per annum. The whole system when completed is to cover about 10,000 or 15,000 miles of double track narrow gauge railway, mostly in the southern and western states, making water connections at San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Norfolk, Va., Philadelphia, New York to Boston, and from Chicago, via Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo, to Boston."

THE COTTON CROP.

THE CONDITION MORE THAN FAIR, WITH AN AUSPICIOUS OUTLOOK.

The June report to Bradstreet's New York agency is based upon 194 replies. It is the most exhaustive report yet received, covering 90 per cent. of the cotton growing regions, or 617 out of 687 counties raising 500 or more bales. The main advices are June 18, and show that the weather has been fair to good up to date. In detail the correspondents say: [illegible] must be regarded as better than fair. The prospects for a good crop were regarded on that date as scarcely fair. The condition of the fields as to cultivation was from fair to good. The number of correspondents who regarded the prospect fair for a good crop was 394, the number who saw a fair crop in view 625, and a bad crop 179. There were 509 correspondents who said the condition as to cultivation was good, 551 who said it was fair, and 341 that it was bad. Up to May 18 the weather had only been fair, owing to cold and wet, and the condition of the stand was only fair. This month brought but very little improvement. Telegraphic advices from the more important points in the cotton region are somewhat contradictory as to distinct improvement since June 16. The general condition and prospects of the crop cannot be put down as good, but an advance beyond fair has been made, with an auspicious outlook.

STATE NEWS.

Cumberland.

The Press says as some painters were adjusting their stage hooks on the roof of a building in Portland, Friday, a hook weighing several pounds fell and struck Frank W. Sprague a glancing blow upon the head, rendering him partially insensible, and cutting a deep gash through the scalp and several inches in length. Had the hook struck directly on the head, it is thought he would have been killed. . . . The Tremont, the new and elegant steamer of the Portland steam pocket company's line, arrived at Portland, Friday.

Among the scholars of the Portland High School, class of '83, who graduated the 28th, was a blind girl. She was one of the best scholars in the class, and had she taken the study of geometry—which of course was utterly impossible for her—would have received a medal, as she stood number three in class for the four years. She was always at school and had perfect lessons.

The Press says: Applicants for examination for appointment to the department service at Washington, can obtain blank applications at the Custom house, Portland, and when filled out, file them with the collector, Col. F. N. Dow. Persons whose applications have been so filed can appear without notification for examination at the Custom House July 4th, at 12 o'clock. There will be fifteen temporary appointments at the Custom House in November, as has been heretofore stated.

N. G. French, a recent graduate of Newton Theological School, was ordained to the work of the ministry, at the First Baptist church in Hopewell, Thursday.

The Mt. Desert Herald says G. R. Currier, of Sedgwick, saw three young deer in his field recently.

The Journal gives a list of Augusta tax payers who pay fifty dollars and upwards. E. C. Allen pays $1,794; Darius Alden, $1,039; J. G. Blaine, $1,254; James Bradbury, $1,230; Sarah B. Bridges, 1,193; J. M. Haynes, $1,345; estate of G. W. Stanley, $1,431; F. O. Vickery, $1,268;

The Opinion says, a young woman who came to Rockland about two years ago and has been known as Frank Bryant, was found dead in her bed on Wednesday morning, in her room. She was apparently in good health when she retired, Tuesday evening, and her death was probably caused by a fit of some kind, though the nature of it could not be determined.

Lincoln.

A vacant house and ell owned by William Ford, of Jefferson, were burned Friday night. Loss about $600; insured.

Sagadahoc.

A boy while bathing in the river at Bowdoinham, Friday, got beyond his depth, sunk and was drowned.

Friday, Ezekiel Winlow, of Bath, received a severe injury to his left hand. In attempting to turn his team the covered wagon was overturned, throwing him out. His left hand was caught beneath one of the wheels with such force as to burst the flesh between the first and second fingers, causing an ugly wound about an inch and a half in length.

York.

The people of Newfield seem deeply affected by the sudden death of their pastor, Rev. Daniel Waterhouse. On Sunday, June 10th, a memorial service was held, conducted by the presiding elder, Rev. C. J. Clark, who preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion. The quarterly conference unanimously requested the appointment of Rev. A. Wilbur Waterhouse to fill the pastorate made vacant by his father's death, and he has entered upon the work with hopeful indications of success.

The Press says, Thursday afternoon, two young men, Fred Bradeen and James Clay, of Buxton, while on a tear in Standish, got into a quarrel over some trifling matter, when Bradeen drew a knife and struck Clay in the breast, but fortunately without doing serious injury. He then gave him another cut under the arm, severing one of the large arteries. Clay was taken to a doctor who dressed the wound, which bled so profusely that the patient came near bleeding to death before it could be stopped. Cider did it.

CRASH IN CAPE COLONY.

DIAMOND FIELDS FAILURES FOLLOWED BY 10 SUICIDES—THREE YEARS' DROUGHT.

A reporter visited the Austrian bark Leo. Capt. Segedich, moored at her wharf in Brooklyn, Friday, after a passage of 59 days from Cape Town. Mr. H. B. Joseph, a passenger, a Cape commission dealer in diamonds, copper, wool, etc., told most distressing tales of the great sufferings in Cape Colony. In parts of the country there has been no rain for three years, and the people are starving. He says that the condition of affairs in Cape Town, at Kimberley and Du Toits Pan (the diamond fields), the Leydenburg gold fields, the Orange free States and surrounding country is worse than it has been for years. What adds to the general distress consequent on the failure of the crops is a disaster at the great diamond mine at Kimberley, 600 miles up from Cape Town and 400 miles from Natal.

The mine is 330 feet deep and 14 miles in circumference. The soft debris has fallen back into the mine in such quantities that is estimated that eighteen months will be required for its removal. Upward of 4,000 tons fell within twenty-four hours. The extent of the calamity can be judged by the fact that this celebrated mine has yielded £3,000 000 in diamonds a year. The effect at Cape Town has been most disastrous. The revenue has fallen off 50 per cent., and the mining shares have gone down 75 per cent. It is estimated, said Mr. Joseph, that it will cost £250.000 to clear the mine. The fall in the price of diamond shares has ended in a great tragedy. There are sixty-five diamond mining companies, with a subscribed capital of £7,000,000, and of these companies only 14 are paying dividends. Most of these mines are within a radius of 150 miles, and at an average of 600 miles, from Cape Town. The extent of the commercial convulsion is illustrated by the great Central Diamond Company. It had a subscribed capital of £900,000 and paid taxes on £840,000.

Two years ago the shares were rated £150 each, but to-day they are worth only £80. The Frere Diamond Mining Company at De Beers, a quarter of a mile from the Kimberley mine, with a subscribed capital of £180,000—£100 a share—has been sold out by the sheriff for £15,000 for great greed in the mining board. Mr. Harry Wilkinson, a leading merchant, blew out his brains on account of his losses. Nine speculators, and two weeks afterward Mr. J. H. Gordon, a leading merchant, committed suicide. Many [illegible] have left the country. Many [illegible] are [illegible] to death.

CRASH IN CAPE COLONY.

DIAMOND FIELDS FAILURES FOLLOWED BY 10 SUICIDES—THREE YEARS' DROUGHT.

A reporter visited the Austrian bark Leo. Capt. Segedich, moored at her wharf in Brooklyn, Friday, after a passage of 59 days from Cape Town. Mr. H. B. Joseph, a passenger, a Cape commission dealer in diamonds, copper, wool, etc., told most distressing tales of the great sufferings in Cape Colony. In parts of the country there has been no rain for three years, and the people are starving. He says that the condition of affairs in Cape Town, at Kimberley and Du Toits Pan (the diamond fields), the Leydenburg gold fields, the Orange free States and surrounding country is worse than it has been for years. What adds to the general distress consequent on the failure of the crops is a disaster at the great diamond mine at Kimberley, 600 miles up from Cape Town and 400 miles from Natal.

The mine is 330 feet deep and 14 miles in circumference. The soft debris has fallen back into the mine in such quantities that is estimated that eighteen months will be required for its removal. Upward of 4,000 tons fell within twenty-four hours. The extent of the calamity can be judged by the fact that this celebrated mine has yielded £3,000 000 in diamonds a year. The effect at Cape Town has been most disastrous. The revenue has fallen off 50 per cent., and the mining shares have gone down 75 per cent. It is estimated, said Mr. Joseph, that it will cost £250.000 to clear the mine. The fall in the price of diamond shares has ended in a great tragedy. Capt. Segarich said that commercial circles in Cape Colony are so greatly depressed that many of the colonists are returning to Europe, and especially to England. He said that he could have brought many more passengers if he had had room.

BEGGAR WITH THOUSANDS.

USING A PARALYZED CHILD TO CREATE SYMPATHY.

Madelini Gardillo, an Italian woman about 50 years old, was charged with committing a misdemeanor in New York Special Sessions, Wednesday, by Superintendent Jenkins of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. She was arrested by an officer of the society while begging with a child in her arms. The child, a girl about seven years old, was a pitiful object, with an unnaturally large head, which is very long from the chin to the forehead. She has weak gray eyes, no teeth and a small body.

The limbs of the child were perfectly helpless, being paralyzed, and she lay in a half-unconscious condition, the only sign of life being an occasional blinking of the eyelids and a twitching of the mouth. Superintendent Jenkins said that the woman used the child, which was not her own, to excite the sympathy of the public. The woman was at once convicted and sentenced to the Penitentiary for a year, and the child was given in charge of the society.

A MOST EXTRAORDINARY CASE.

To a reporter, Superintendent Jenkins said: "It is a most extraordinary case. We have been on the track of the woman for about a year, but were unable to catch her. The first information we received of her was that she was begging in New Brighton and Stapleton, S. I. A lady residing at New Brighton wrote to us to inquire if the woman was worthy of charity. The woman had told her a pitiful story of starvation and a large family. The unfortunate child had been in Bellevue Hospital five months, she said, but the physicians there had been unable to better her condition. The lady was willing to contribute a sum of money towards the support of the woman and her child, if they were deserving. I investigated the case and learned that the woman was a professional beggar. I sent one of my men to hunt her up, but we lost track of her. This was last June.

"We heard of her again in New York, but as soon as our officer started out in search of her she disappeared. We did not hear of her again until last fall, but she escaped arrest. Last May we received a letter from a down-town lawyer, who said that the woman was begging from the steps of St. Peter's Church. He described the pitiful condition of the child, and asked us to rescue it. One of my men spent two days in front of St. Peter's Church, but the woman failed to show up. June 9 we received notice that she was begging on Chambers street, but my men were unable to catch sight of her. On the day that we arrested her we received information of her whereabouts. She had $5 65 in her possession when arrested, the result of her day's begging.

A SIGN THAT WAS A LIE.

"This is the sign she wore on her breast," said Mr. Jenkins, handing the reporter a small tin placard bearing the following:

PLEASE BE PITY
POOR WIDOW HAVING
5 CHILDREN THIS PARALYZED ONE WHO HAS WATER ON THE BRAINS GOD WILL REWARD YOU.

"We investigated the case," continued Mr. Jenkins. "She lived on Park street. There we found her husband, Andrea Gordillo, who is a large, fat and healthy Italian. He was smoking a pipe when we entered, and was the picture of ease and laziness. They are comfortably well off, being worth $5,000 or $10,000, obtained from begging.

THE BEGGAR'S RICH CHILDREN.

"As to her children, she has a daughter in Italy who is married to a wealthy Italian, and a son an officer in the Italian army. Her children living with her are a daughter named Griovanna, a pretty girl about seventeen, a daughter named Maria, twelve years old, and a boy named Fortunata, eight years old. The unfortunate child she condemned from the almshouse in Genoa, Italy.

"The Italian authorities allowed her about fifteen francs, equal to $3 in our money, every month for the support of the child. She came to this country about four years ago and began her career as a professional beggar. She made three trips with her family to Genoa during that short period, for the purpose of visiting her daughter and investing the money which she has obtained here where it would realize the largest profit. Upon her return from her last visit she brought this child with her. That child was worth from $4 to $5 a day to her. The unfortunate little being would excite sympathy anywhere. I have written to the Genoa authorities about the case and will probably return the child to them."

TUESDAY, JULY 3, 1883.

General Hancock's friends insist that he is still a strong candidate for the Democratic nomination.

An exchange propounds the following conundrum: "Where do toy-pistol makers go when they die?"

The Democrats of Ohio reaffirmed their faith in their platform of 1876. One of the resolutions of this platform declared against specie resumption. But the country resumed all the same.

The interviewers are killing off McDonald, of Indiana, as a possible Presidential candidate. A man who will allow two different correspondents to "pump" him the same day and publish him as an out and out free trader might as well retire from the field at once.

Justice Field, of the United States Supreme Court, says he travels 9,000 miles a year in attending to his judicial duties. His travelling expenses amount to more than $1,000 a year when he goes alone, and to more than $2,000 a year when his wife accompanies him; and the Judges alone, of high Government officers, have to pay their own travelling expenses.

Opposition to Judge Hoadly, the Democratic candidate for Governor in Ohio, has arisen in an unexpected quarter. He was the leading counsel for the assignee of Archbishop Purcell in the suit against the church property, and fought for the sale of nearly all the churches, school-houses, cemeteries, and other property belonging to the Catholic Church in the Cincinnati Diocese. The case was submitted to the District Court nearly a year ago. The charge is made that Judge Hoadly, fearing the result of the decision whichever way it may be given, has caused it to be held back, and will continue to use his influence to prevent its being rendered until after the October election.

The unanimity shown by the Republicans of Iowa and Minnesota in the work of their conventions, says the Tribune, augurs well for the success of the party. Governors Sherman and Hubbard were both renominated by acclamation. The conventions, although held in a busy season, were unusually well attended, and the enthusiasm shown indicates a vigorous campaign, which in Iowa and Minnesota is sure to result in Republican success. In Iowa, as in Ohio, the Democrats place their reliance on the support of the liquor dealers, while in Minnesota they fell back on the old and stale cry of the need of a "change" that shall put Republicans out and Democrats in office. Until the Democrats can find some better reason for a change, they are not likely to bring it about.

There has never been any indication that the jury which acquitted the Star Route defendants was corrupted until to-day. A statement has been made by the juror Horrigan which shows that he thinks that money was used. Horrigan was the last juror to vote for acquittal. He is quoted as saying that, since the verdict, he has been told by a friend of one of the defendants that he could have made two thousand dollars if he had not been so hard to approach, and Horrigan remarks that it is curious that one of the jurors who is a day laborer, not supposed to have any money, has commenced to build himself a house, while others have money enough to take trips to the watering places. If corruption could be proved it would not benefit the Government, as the case could not be reopened.—Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.

The political situation in Indiana is reviewed by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem). According to him the election of last year was no criterion of the strength, of parties in the State. The Democratic vote fell off less than 4,000, while the Republican vote was more than 22,000 smaller than in 1886. The cause of the Democratic success in 1882 was due largely to the aid of the liquor interest; but the action of the Legislature last winter demoralized the saloon men, and it is doubtful if their strength will be thrown solidly again in favor of the Democracy. The growth of manufacturers in the State will inevitably hurt the Democrats and aid the Republicans. From all the circumstances the correspondent concludes that if the Democrats want to carry Indiana next year they will have to nominate a man for President who is at least 10,000 votes stronger than his party.

Speaking of Mr. Blaine's remarkable memory, ex-Senator Thurman is reported recently to have told the following story: "In 1876," he said, "Blaine came to my town and made a speech. I went to hear him. While I was talking to him at the place where he had spoken I saw in the crowd an old farmer of wealth and consequence, a client of mine, who is a staunch Republican. He was regarding with much interest the great Republican leader of whom he had heard so much, but never before had seen. I beckoned for him to come up, and said: 'Mr. Blaine, I want to present to you 'Squire Brown.' Blaine was very cordial, and, in his magnetic way, soon had my old friend perfectly delighted. Brown was a noted breeder of horses, and that day had driven into town behind a very pretty pair of four-year olds. Blaine took a look at the horses and said: 'Squire, have you ever trained that bear colt?' He would make good time, if properly handled, I think.' With a few other words he went away with me, and saw no more of Mr. Brown. In 1880 Blaine came to Ohio and spoke again at my town. I was on hand. When he had closed his speech the people came up to speak to him. Suddenly looking up he saw 'Squire Brown at a distance. The old man was wondering if Blaine would remember him. Leaving the crowd about him, Blaine walked straight to Brown, and calling him by name, shook hands with him cordially, and, after talking a few minutes, said: 'Squire Brown, did you ever train that near bolt you were driving four years ago when I met you? I have often thought of that colt, and believed he would have made a good trotter if properly trained.' "Now," said Judge Thurman, "it had been four years since that circumstance occurred. Blaine had had an immense number of things to think of in that time, and yet he had recalled the man and remembered without difficulty precisely what had happened so long ago. To my mind it was one of the most wonderful feats of memory I have ever known."

CANCELLING BANK STAMPS.

A BIG JOB WITH WHICH THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT IS STRUGGLING.

In the top story of the Treasury Department is a large room occupied during office hours by about 50 ladies, temporary employes of the bureau of engraving and printing. These ladies are engaged in cancelling the international revenue stamps printed on bank checks. It will be remembered that the internal revenue law passed last winter abolished the stamp tax on bank checks. Many of the banks have their own checks and drafts with the stamps printed on them. These are made into books, some of which are gotten up in a very elaborate scale. Most of these banks do not care to lose the checks, and, as the stamps will be worthless after to-day, the department has, in many instances, been requested to return the check books to the respective banks after the stamps have been cancelled and the amount of rebate noted. The government is not compelled to do this, yet, as an act of accommodation, it is done. The number of stamps in each book is first counted by an expert from the bureau of engraving and printing and an account thereof taken. The books are then passed to the ladies at the long tables, who, with a small hand stamp, print the word "cancelled" across the face of the stamp, and the book of checks is ready to go back to the bank from whence it came. It is said that over 1,000,000 bank stamps have thus far been cancelled, and there are probably several millions more to be disposed of in the same manner.

Gen. Charles Grosvenor, of Ohio, while in Washington recently said to a Critic reporter: "I hear the latest combination is with Hoadly and Bookwalter—the latter to support the former for Presidential honors and the former to go in for the latter for the United States Senate. There will be a new deal among the Democrats in this campaign, but Forster will be elected. Durbin Ward would have been much stronger than Hoadly. Yes, the defeat of John G. Thompson for the chairmanship of the State Central Committee was a bad day's work for the Democrats. Thompson is the best man for the place the Democrats have in the State." Speaking of Hoadly's card in the New York papers, Gen. Grosvenor said: "It is an infallible rule in politics that, when a candidate begins writing cards in June, he is a corpse before October."

A Washington despatch says that after his return from New York the President will leave July 10 for Newport to spend two pleasant weeks, from which place news comes that elaborate preparations have been made to entertain him. He has pleasant memories of his stay there last year, and goes there very gladly now. From there he will cruise along the New England coast, probably in the Despatch as far as Boston, and then to the coast of Maine. He prefers to travel in this manner as he is more removed from the crowd, whose curiosity is not always pleasant to him, and because he can find more comfort than on a dusty railroad train. He can also better control his movements. The President intends to take a trip to the Yellowstone before he returns to Washington for the fall. This will involve a stop at some of the principal cities of the West. He has directed the War Department to ascertain how telegraphic communication can be had with him in the Yellowstone Park. The War Department is prepared to run a field telegraph, or connection can be easily made with the nearest military station.

The four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America, now only nine years in the future, is looked to with great interest in Spain. King Alfonso is of opinion that his own country should take the lead in the festivities, and that they should be held at either Madrid, Granada, Huelva, or Barcelona, all of which towns are in some way connected with the life of Columbus. The King has pledged his word to do what is possible to make its celebration a decided success, and expresses the hope that the celebration will be one worthy of the great deeds of the discovery of the New World. Senor Castelar's view as to the nature of the celebration differs from that of the King. He would have Spain, Portugal, Italy, France, England and the United States join to make the festival one of the most brilliant ever held in the history of the world. Vessels of each of these nations, beautifully equipped, should, he proposes, on the 3d of August, 1892, depart from Palos for San Salvador in imitation of the voyage of Columbus. As Castelar is to address the British Athenæum next year on the subject of "Columbus," he will have opportunity to interest that nation in the scheme for which he himself shows so much enthusiasm.

AN OUTSPOKEN BOLTER.

SENATOR THURMAN'S SON TERMS JUDGE HOADLY A POLITICAL GYMNAST.

Mr. Allen W. Thurman, son of Senator Thurman, having been soundly abused by Mr. Hoadly's personal organ because of his refusal to approve the action of the Democratic convention and support the ticket, the following letter over Mr. Thurman's signature was published today:

A correspondent of the Cincinnati News-Journal states in the issue of the 26th inst. that I have been in the habit of scratching Democratic tickets and that I did not vote for Gov. Allen but voted for Gov. Hayes The News-Journal, referring editorially to the matter, says: "It is not a bolt from the ticket (the present one), but the result of a chronic habit." If this paper and others that are abusing me had wished to have known and stated the truth they could easily have obtained it, but as misrepresentation only is intended, I feel compelled, in justice to myself, to state that I did vote for Gov. Allen each time that he was a candidate, and, further, that I have never voted for a Republican in my life, and would not do so this fall if the Democratic convention had nominated a Democrat.

As it stands it is simply a choice between a Republican and a political gymnast, whose election means a reorganization of the old Democratic party and the new Democracy, (I believe Judge Hoadly calls it) on a basis as unstable as the candidate himself. I will vote for Judge Forster, not because I believe in Republican principles, but because I believe that the defeat of Judge Hoadly will preserve those of the Democratic party by putting a quietus in the future on expediency candidates who have no political principles. The old ship Democracy can easily stand another defeat, but she must not be wrecked. Y t how can Democrats if they put in a pilot (Mr. Hoadly) who has never been able to steer himself politically any straighter than to the front—a Democrat a long time ago, then an Abolitionist, then a Know Nothing, then a Republican, then a Radical, then a Liberal, then a Grant man, then for Hayes against Gov. Allen—expect to keep her off the rocks?

In referring to the incoherent mutterings of Mr. John G. Thompson in Washington, Mr. Thurman says: "They are beneath my notice."

THE NEW CONTRACT —OF THE— Connecticut Mutual Life Ins. Co.

(5) An Income bearing Policy. The Limited premium policy (10, 15, 20, 25 payments) becomes, at the end of its term, a dividend-earning policy, whose commercial value can be readily reckoned and made available like any first-class government or municipal security.

(6) This contract grows more valuable with age. The reserve being based on three per cent., more money is accumulated to earn interest, and there is more probability of margin for surplus between the assumed and the earned rate of interest than under any other contract in life insurance.

COLBY UNIVERSITY.

Presentation Day—Junior Declamations—Distinguished Arrivals.

WATERVILLE, July 2. To-day was presentation day on the college campus by the class of '84 and was largely attended and of more than ordinary interest. An ode was sung by the class, oration by Edwin P. Burtt, poem by Henry F. Dexter, award of prizes by Elmer McIntyre. The prize to the handsomest man was won by J. E. Cummings, wise man by Henry Kingman, man of truth by H. B. Gray, of Boston.

This evening occurred the Junior declamations at the church with the following programme: "Progress," by Thos. P. Putnam; "Revolution," by Shailor Mathews; "The Novelist as an Educator," by H. Kingman; "The Influence of Art," by John C. Keith; "American Literature," by C. S. Estes; "Hypatia," by W. C. Emerson; "Kent," by John L. Dearing; "Classics in America," by W. K. Clement; "Philosophy of Art," by Edwin P. Burtt.

The class is a very strong one and acquitted itself with honor, considering the fearful responsibility its members assumed in choosing such ponderous themes for this occasion. The evening train brought many distinguished friends and patrons of the college, including Hon. C. W. Morse, of Jacksonville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins, San Francisco, Deacon Giddings and Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, of Bangor, Hon. J. F. Baldwin, of Cincinnati, J. W. Weston, of Lacrosse, Wis., Hon. Abner Coburn, of Skowhegan and H. Ballou, of Boston. The Trustees at a meeting this evening transacted no business of importance and adjourned to meet at 8 A. M. to-morrow.

SAD ACCIDENT.

A Man Killed on the Maine Central.

WATERVILLE, July 2. Veda Vasborne, a railroad employe, while standing on the track watching an outgoing train was struck by an incoming train and instantly killed. He was about 55 years old and leaves a widow and five children.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Meeting at Portland.

PORTLAND, July 2. Shepley Camp, Sons of Veterans, entertained the Camps of Lewiston and Auburn, the occasion being the installation of the officers of Shepley Camp. Speeches were made. At the close of the ceremony the veteran Camps left on the Pullman train.

HE DESERVES PUNISHMENT.

The Owner of the Horse "Boston" Arrested.

NEW HAVEN, July 2. Daggett, the owner of the horse "Boston" who raced the animal against a catamaran yesterday from New York to Stony Creek, a distance of 90 miles, was arrested to-day at the instance of the State Humane Society for cruelty to animals. Bonds were furnished.

FORTY-SEVEN BICYCLISTS

On a Canadian Tour.

DETROIT, July 2 Forty-seven bicyclists started from Windsor this morning on the much-talked of Canadian tour, which extends via St. Thomas, Goderich, Stratford, Brantford and Toronto to Niagara Falls. There are wheelmen in the party from Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Louisville, Minneapolis, Peoria, Worcester and various other cities.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Butler Trying to Stave off the Report of the Tewksbury Committee until January.

BOSTON, July 2. Gov. Butler has sent a long message to the Legislature stating that in his opinion there is no public exigency requiring him to adjourn the Legislature to August 27th as requested. He would be very glad to prorogue them on any day they choose until the first Tuesday in January.

State Tax Bill Vetoed.

The Governor to-day sent a message to the House of Representatives vetoing the tax bill. He expresses the opinion that a State tax of $2,000,000 is altogether too large.

Bill Vetoed.

BOSTON, July 2. The Governor has vetoed the bill awarding the Stranley Brothers additional remuneration for losses incurred in constructing the Hoosac Tunnel, on the ground that as they have previously receipted for large sums of money in full for all claims this ought to be a bar to all further demands, and he considers the Stranleys have no legal or equitable claims against the State. The message contains long arguments to substantiate this view of the case.

Boston's Finances.

The report of the Auditor shows the entire debt of the city of Boston $41,281,000, an increase of $1,118,000; debt less means of paying it, $24,868,800; total, receipts, $20 632,500; payments, $20,195,890. The sum now in the Treasury is $2,571,000; total valuation of personal estate for all purposes for which the city must raise money by taxation can be put at $244,094,000; gross total valuation $795,761,000.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Balloting Without a Quorum.

CONCORD, July 2. The ballot for U. S. Senator to-day resulted as follows:

James W. Patterson,	1
Aaron F. Stevens,	1

SUITS AGAINST THE W. U. T. CO.

A Motion by the Company Denied.

NEW YORK, July 2. Judge Freedman, in the Superior Court, to-day gave a decision in the cases of Wm. S. Williams and Rufus Hatch against the Western Union Telegraph Company and others. The motion was to vacate the injunction orders granted last December, which restrained payment of dividends upon $15,529,590 of stock, which was declared to have been illegally issued upon defendants giving a bond as authorized by the amendment to the code, enacted by the last Legislature, sufficient to indemnify plaintiffs against any loss they might sustain by the vacating of such injunction. This motion was made by the Western Union Company, and Judge Freedman denies the motion.

WIND, RAIN AND HAIL.

A Terrific Storm in Connecticut.

WATERBURY, Conn., July 2. The most terrific storm for several years visited this city and the Naugatuck Valley at 6 o'clock this evening. The wind was almost a hurricane, the rain fell in torrents and the streets and lawns were strewn with branches. Several large trees were torn up by the roots, one falling across and delaying travel on the Naugatuck road. Windows were broken by the hail stones and much tobacco will have to be reset.

At Other Points.

Ozaukee county, Wis., was swept, demolishing buildings in some thirty towns.

At Port Jarvis, N. Y., much damage was done.

Binghamton, N. Y., was visited by a terrific storm, many buildings being damaged.

New York City at 6 P. M., was swept by a wind storm. Signs and trees were blown down and the front wall of the new theater on the Bowery was leveled. The air was blinded by the dust drove on a railroad track and were killed by a train.

The bids for the Chicago $889,000; Boston $619,000; Atlanta $617,000; Dolphin (despatch boat) $215,000. The contracts will be awarded to him. There were only four bidders for each vessel.

An Official Gone Wrong.

A telegram received at the Department of Justice to-day announces that Joseph L. Brown, Jr., late Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal for the Eastern District of Arkansas, at Little Rock, has been convicted of forgery and presenting false, fictitious and fraudulent accounts and sentenced to five years imprisonment at hard labor and to pay a fine of $1,000.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED.

Narrow Escape of the Inmates—Twelve Insane Persons Now at Large.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 2 Fire broke out at Dauphin County Almshouse, two miles from here this afternoon and destroyed every building on the ground except the laundry and school house. The fire was the most destructive that ever visited this neighborhood. It was first discovered in a large frame stable located near the main structure. The stable was consumed together with the contents, including two horses and five mules. The heated blaze on the main structure set fire to that building and as there was a very high wind at the time the building was soon destroyed. As soon as the dwelling caught the steward and his assistants rushed to the insane department and forced the excited inmates 21 females and 17 males, from their quarters.

All were saved though some fought desperately. The fire is supposed to have been caused by heated hay just placed in the barn, but there is a rumor that it was accidentally set on fire by one of the employes from a pipe or cigar. The loss is about $200.000; insurance $30 000. Quelof the insane patients was severely burned. The insane were this evening removed to the State asylum above the city and the sick were brought to the hospital here. Tents were procured at the arsenal and will be erected near the ruins for the paupers.

Later.

Shortly after the insane inmates were gathered up by outsiders and taken to the State Asylum it was discovered that twelve of them were missing, having fled. Two of them are very violent. Up to nine o'clock, to-night none have been apprehended.

Gen. Crook's Views.

DENVER, July 2. General Crook and Captain Burke, his aid de camp, arrived here yesterday, en route to Washington. Gen. Crook says that the telegraphic reports that the "hostiles" are again on the war path are absolutely without foundation in fact. The "hostiles" are glad of the opportunity to surrender as they fully realize that any further demonstration by them would be most disastrous. With Nana, Loco and Bonito subdued and old Jas a refugee from his own tribe further trouble is impossible. A few squaws and children only remain out. These are expected in hourly and beyond a doubt will bring in Charley McComas. The General is of the firm belief that the Indian troubles are settled.

BOATS, BICYCLES AND HAY FEVER.

Nature has resolved that all the people shall not enjoy themselves at once. With the opening of the season of outdoor sports comes the time of trouble for the poor victims of Hay Fever. For them flowers have no odor, and the summer lizzie or no beauty. To snuff, sneeze and wipe their weeping eyes for three or four successive months:—this is their pitiable portion. Whether this form of catarrh is called hay-fever, hay-cold, rose-cold or rose-fever, makes no difference; they suffer just the same. There is no help in sea-voyages, there is no help in high mountain air. These only lighten the pocket and leave the disease unabated. But there is a positive cure in Ely's Cream Balm. We could cram these columns with grateful letters of the rescued. Try it and join them. If you continue to suffer it is because you neglect a remedy as sure as it is cheap and pleasant. cod&w3w june21

Our correspondent Nopen writes: At the time when David Bowker built Estes' mill, burned on Friday last, a channel was dug direct to the site of the mill across the highway, the course of the stream being several rods east, and the railroad embankment formed the dam to the pond. This channel had a large accumulation of wood and bark and the fire is still burning in that channel to a depth of six to ten feet below the road level. A road has been constructed and bridge thrown across the stream just below the mill site. Estes estimates that about $200 worth of lumber was destroyed. The fire is supposed to have caught from a freight train, which passes from 6 to 10 rods from the mill.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO C. M. JORDAN, ESQ.,

By Members of St. John's Commandery, K. T.

One of the most elegant and interesting of the festivities of the season was the complimentary banquet given at the Bangor House last evening by members of St. John's Commandery, K. T., to Sir Knight Charles M. Jordan, as a testimonial of esteem on the occasion of his departure from our city for a home in the West. Prior to the banquet an informal reception of the brethren was held in the parlors of the hotel, where many members of the Order paid their respects to the guest of the evening and personally expressed their good wishes for his future.

Shortly before nine o'clock the company marched into the large dining hall of the Bangor House, where Past Grand Commander A. B. Farnham, who escorted Sir Knight Jordan, took his place at the head of the table with the honored guests at his right hand and Eminent Commander A. B. Marston, of St. John's at his left, and the Sir Knights, to the number of nearly one hundred took their places around the festive board. The tables were placed in the emblematic form of a cross and were beautifully arranged with tempting viands and decorated with massive bouquets of cut flowers and tropical foliage. The dinner was prepared and laid in a manner most creditable to the culinary skill of the Bangor House caterers, and was promptly served by a deft corps of female waiters under the direct supervision of Manager Roach. Artistically printed upon illuminated cards was the following dainty

When ample justice had been done to the banquet so admirably provided by Landlord Beal, the cigars were passed around, chairs were drawn back, and Past Grand Commander Farnham, as presiding officer, in well chosen and eloquent words, stated the object of the gathering and on behalf of the members extended to Sir Knight Jordan the heartiest expression of the regard and well-wishing of his brethren on the occasion of his early departure from our city. At the close of his own remarks, the chairman called upon Eminent Commander A. B. Marston, of St. John's, who effectively and feelingly voiced the regret of the brethren at the departure of one to whom they have become so much attached.

At the call of the Chairman, fitting remarks were also made by P. C. Lemuel Bradford and P. C. E. F. Dillingham, the latter paying a peculiarly happy, just and touching tribute to the services rendered by Mr. Jordan in reorganizing and conducting our city schools.

Brief but appropriate responses were also made by Past Commanders Josiah S. Ricker, Marshall Dyer and Moses M. Hastings, and by Sir Knights George W. Snow and William C. Mason, the latter most gracefully and pleasantly voicing the regard of the brethren for their departing guest and their confidence in his future. Sir Knight Thomas C. Hersey followed briefly in a similar kindly vein. Capt. C. A. Boutelle, of THE WHIG AND COURIER, being called upon to respond for the Press, expressed thanks for the honor of being an invited guest on so interesting an occasion, complimented the Masonic Order upon having contributed so much to the widespread reputation of Bangor for generous and elegant hospitality, and bore cordial witness to the well-earned public esteem which Mr. Jordan will bear with him to his Western home. Sir Knights Hiram B. Fogg, Thomas W. Burr, W. H. Kirkpatrick and George Joss, made brief and earnest responses, and Sir Knight J. A. Dold, very handsomely referred to the good work which Mr. Jordan as an educator will find to do in the West. Sir Knights C. L. Marston and William W. Doane, each responded in a few earnest words.

The chairman then introduced the guest of the evening, Sir Knight Charles M. Jordan, who was received with hearty and long-continued applause. The response of Mr. Jordan to the kind expressions he had heard was a model of modesty, sincerity and manliness. He spoke earnestly of the needs of our schools and called upon the parents of the city to see to it that their standard is never again allowed to fall. He expressed gratitude and affection for the pupils who have been so long under his charge, and who have, he declares, behaved nobly in keeping up the character of the work. He also gave high credit to the parents of Bangor for the sympathy extended to the teachers in their labors, but urged the importance of more direct and frequent parental supervision of the educational interests of the community. His remarks on this subject were filled with an earnest sincerity and elicited a hearty response from his auditors. Referring to the gratifying testimonial given him by his brethren of St. John's, he eloquently expressed his thanks for all their kindness, and with the assurance that his Bangor friends would always have a warm place in his heart, he closed amid an outburst of earnest applause.

Sir Knight George Lansil, of this city, and Sir Knight Allen, of Portland Commandery, briefly responded to calls, the latter speaking as a past graduate of the Bangor High School.

By request of the Chairman at about 11 P. M. the entire company arose and concluded the very pleasant exercises by uniting their voices to the words and music of "Auld Lang Syne."

That the occasion proved so successful and pleasing in all respects was very largely due to the excellent arrangements made by the following committee of Knights of St. John's:

William W. Doane, Norris E. Bragg, James M. Swett, William C. Mason, Augustus B. Farnham, William Z. Clayton, Moses M. Hastings.

THE COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Rejoicing at Waterville Over Colby's Victory.

Our Waterville correspondent writes: The last game in the inter-collegiate base ball series was played with the Bowdoin College nine, Saturday, at Lewiston. It decided the championship in favor of the Colbys, who have held it for the past two years, thus again depriving Bowdoin of the pennant, honors which she has never yet held.

Agricultural.

THE HAY CROP.

The hay crop in this vicinity bids fair to be the heaviest for many years. Many farmers are puzzled to find room to store it. Within a few years much attention has been given to the curing of this most valuable crop, and it is generally conceded that before the farmer can determine the proper time for mowing, he must consider for what purposes his hay is to be used—whether he is to feed cows for milk, horses and working oxen, or young stock with it. If it is to be used for feeding milch cows, it should be cut earlier than if it is intended for some other kinds of stock, and at such a time and in such a manner as to preserve its juiciness and leave it as much like the green grass of the pasture as possible. If it is to be fed to cows in milk, and the farmer wishes to get the greatest quantity of milk, grass should be cut just before coming into blossom. It is then the most juicy and will produce a greater flow of milk than if allowed to stand longer, but if the object is to secure the best quality of milk, with less regard to quantity, it should be cut in the blossom. For store cattle it should be cut when in full blossom; for horses at work and for fattening cattle, it is better just after it has passed out of the blossom, or when the seed is said to be in the milk. Grasses attain their full development at the time of flowering, and then contain the largest quantity of soluble materials, such as starch, gum and sugar; these, with the nitrogenous compounds which are also most abundant at this time, are of the highest value for supplying nutriment to animals. After flowering, and as the seed forms and ripens, the starch, sugar, etc., are gradually changed into woody fibre, which is nearly insoluble and innutritious. These facts are well established by the best authorities from carefully tried experiments, and show that grasses in general should not be allowed to stand after the time of flowering. There is a great deal of nourishment in the ripe seed, but not enough to make up for the loss in stalk and leaves, if the mowing is put off till the seed is ripe. Grasses fully ripe make hay little better than straw. Clover should be cut immediately after blossoming and before the seed is formed, and cured in such a manner as to lose as little of its foliage as possible. Experience has shown that hay properly dried is not likely to be injured by its own juices; if it has been exposed to rain it should never be put into the barn until it has been thoroughly dried. Grass cured rapidly and with the least exposure is more nutritious than that cured more slowly and longer exposed to the sun. The true art of hay-making consists in curing it just enough to make it fit for storing away and no more.

[For the Whig and Courier.]

Mr. Editor:—In the last issue of the WEEKLY COURIER I saw a communication from Z. A. Gilbert, on "Time to cut hay." The communication is timely, and I wish every farmer in the State could read it and be willing to follow his directions, and thereby save a large per cent. in value of the hay crop. Several farmers are now slashing down their grass before there is any formation of the seed; even ox-eyed daisies are but just flowering, and no formation of seeds as yet to be seen. I am pleased to see that the colleges and experiment stations are taking hold of this matter; it will help the feeling of the farmers to assist the colleges, and be more willing to support them. Help seems to be coming in from Canada, the last few days, and are supplying the demand in this vicinity; the price paid is $2 00 and board, for best hands. H. G. ABBOTT.

Vassalboro, June 30, 1883.

FEEDING SHEEP. You must not collect a large flock of sheep before you get something for them to eat, and that something must be their natural food. That food is grass—grass that is sodded and perennial. The stomach of a sheep is small and he eats but a little at a time, and wants that little very often, and every two or three hours; hence he should be where he can gather his own food. The tendency of all kinds of grain and dry provender is to make sheep unhealthy. A little grain before sending to the shambles is useful to help fatten, but fat is a disease and should be avoided so far as possible in all breeding animals. Likewise should the other extreme—viz.: poverty—be avoided. I have seen sheep degenerate from poverty more in one generation than they could be improved in two or three. I have seen much in the papers about sheep loving bitter weeds, briars, sassafras and the like, and they are good scavengers for a foul farm. My sheep love the cultivated grasses best. I remember once to have killed some sassafras with sheep, but I also killed some of my sheep. It was done by confining them too long to the same territory as well as to the same food. Sheep need to have their pasture changed at least once a month. And this new pasture is as much to force them to sleep in a new place as it is to give variety of food. No sheep can be healthy long that sleeps on the same place and over his own excrement every night.—Farmers' World.

WASHED AND UNWASHED BUTTER. The difference between washed and unwashed butter is analagous to the difference between clarified and unclarified sugar. The former consists of pure saccharine matter, while the latter, though less sweet, has a flavor in addition to that of the pure sugar. When unwashed there is always a little buttermilk adhering to the butter that gives it a peculiar flavor in addition to that of the pure butter, which many people like when it is new. Washing removes all this foreign matter and leaves only the taste of the butter to that of the former ingredients mixed with it like the washed butter best. The flavor of butter consists of fatty matters, which do not combine with matter at all and therefore cannot be washed away by it. The effect of washing upon the keeping qualities of the butter depends upon the purity of the water used. If the water contains no foreign matter that will effect the butter it keeps the better for having the buttermilk washed out instead of worked out. Evidently the grain of the butter will be more perfectly preserved if the buttermilk be removed by careful washing. The grain is such an important factor in the make-up of fine butter that it is necessary we should be very particular not to injure it in any way if we would excel in the art of butter-making.—American Dairyman.

OHIO STATE FAIR WORK. The Ohio Fair is to be held at Columbus the next twenty-five years, and, unlike the so-called State fairs of many of the other States, this is really a State institution, being under the management of the State Board of Agriculture, and not a mere money-making concern, with its clap-trap inducements for drawing a crowd. About fifteen hundred correspondents, one living in each township in the State, make monthly reports to the Secretary of the condition, acreage and prospects of the crops, and as compensation, receive, beside the published reports, complimentary tickets to the State Fair, an arrangement that is giving very general satisfaction to the farming community throughout the State. Numerous new and elegant buildings are to be erected during the summer, for the accommodation of exhibitors and visitors, including a hall for the State Grange. No gambling or liquor selling is allowed on the grounds.

Of the use of cotton-seed meal for dairy cows, a writer in the English Agricultural Gazette says: "I have for many years had a large dairy and have taken first prizes for butter. My cows get three to four pounds of cotton cake all the year. The quantity and quality of the cream and butter is so sensibly increased by cake that it by chance the cows are without it two days, it is at once known in the dairy. In summer, the cake is especially valuable, as it firms the butter. Oatmeal and bran give a quantity of white milk; cotton cake gives cream.

A Western farmer who tried wheat bran as a manure for wheat, reports that the effects of an application of one ton of bran to the acre was equal to that obtained from the usual application of a mixture of bone dust guano, lime and wood ashes, and the difference in yield of the crops that received bran as compared with those not so treated was very great.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much, if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."

River St., Bucksland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD.
